

Article 12

The flag of the Republic is the Italian tricolour: green, white and red, in three vertical bands of equal size.

The background of the slide is a photograph of a flag with three vertical bands of green, white, and red, flying against a blue sky with white clouds. The flag is attached to a silver pole with a gold finial at the top.

Comment of the article

The article 12 is about the description of the national flag. The flag is a tricolour with three vertical bands of equal size: the green colour is for our fields, the white colour is for the eternal snows and red for the soldiers fallen in battle.